

Bertrand Russel

This is about Bertrand Russell and his family and his accomplishments for peace. Bertrand Russell was born on May 18, 1872, and died on Febuary, 1970. He had a brother named Frank who was 7 years older than him. He had a sister named Rachel who was 4 years older than him. His mother died in 1874, and his dad died in 1878. He studied mathematics and philosophy at Cambridge University. His country of origin was England. He worked on nuclear disarmament in Britain.

Bertrand Russell worked on political causes mostly related to nuclear disarmament. Nuclear disarmament is reducing or eliminating nuclear weapons. He helped solve the problem by getting a document signed calling for nuclear disarmament. In 1950, Bertrand Russell earned the Nobel Prize in Literature.

The reason I picked Bertrand Russell is because I had never heard of him, and I thought it would be fun to learn about someone new. I thought it was admirable how he got a paper signed calling for nuclear disarmament.
